

Content warning for: NSFW, mentions of suicide, pedophilia, grooming, incest, and abuse

Foreword:

It has come to my attention that a certain group of individuals are currently in the process of digging up every piece of dirt on me they can, with the intention of getting me banned from The Backrooms Wiki and damaging my reputation.

What they plan to showcase is, for the most part, years old drama that has already been resolved, and that I have already publicly apologized and taken accountability for. In spite of this fact, they have decided that me being unbanned from The Backrooms Wiki was unacceptable, and they have been planning this attack against me for months.

And though I know for a fact that their intentions are malicious in nature, being exclusively born of spite and hatred against me for whatever reason- that does not change the fact that a lot of what they claim about me is true.

It is true that, for a very long time while I have been a member of The Backrooms Wiki community, I engaged in behaviors that were genuinely harmful and problematic, and I hurt a lot of people with my words and with my actions. I did do a lot of really fucked up things, and for that I am sorry.

But these people who are currently going after me do not care about that. They do not care that this is years old drama that I have already taken accountability for.

That is why today I want to get out ahead of whatever they plan to “expose” me for in this Google doc. I am going to go over basically every bad thing that I did during my time in The Backrooms Wiki. And, again, despite all of this being years old drama that I have already addressed, I am still going to go over it again.

This document is currently unfinished and will be updated over time- because the attack being made against me has not gone public yet, and in truth, I don’t know what they’re going to try and “expose” me for. So I am going to go over, what I believe to be, the worst offenses that I committed. I will be addressing everything these individuals attempt to throw at me.

I have nothing to hide.

Defending myself, and taking accountability.

My name is Ray. Online, I go by 1000dumplings, or Ray1kd, or just 1kd.

I’m a founding member of The Backrooms Wiki, being the 20th ever member, a former Administrator, and the creator of many of the most popular Backrooms Levels and Entities- including The Partygoers, Level Fun, The Game Master, Level 389, The Followers of Jerry, Level 188, and many others.

During my time in The Backrooms Wiki community, I engaged in behavior that was hurtful, disruptive, inappropriate, and it led to my rightful ban.

However, during my time, many people also grew to hate me for any number of reasons, and it lead them to attempt to destroy my life with false and malicious accusations of pedophilia and grooming, despite them having no evidence, and me being a victim of CSA myself. These lies told about me, along with other attempts and slander against me, are baseless and have no grounding in reality.

That does not mean that I am an innocent victim.

I did shitty things and hurt people, and that was wrong of me, and I have tried very hard to become a better person over the years.

But these lies that have been levied against me are built on a foundation of hatred and spite, and these people who use justice and the idea that children and innocent victims should be protected as a veil to hide their own malicious intentions- their actions do not just harm me, but ALL victims of grooming, rape, and abuse, by muddying the waters and making it harder for actual victims to speak out.

In this document, I am going to go over and take accountability for the things I actually have done (which, to be clear, I have already done multiple times throughout the years), and refute the lies and false accusations made against me.

This is, as of right now, a living document, and I will be addressing everything said against me as it comes out. If updates are made you will see them here. I don't have the best memory and I can't remember every infraction and bad thing I did- so if I didn't address something, it is because I forgot or didn't think to mention it. I have nothing to hide.

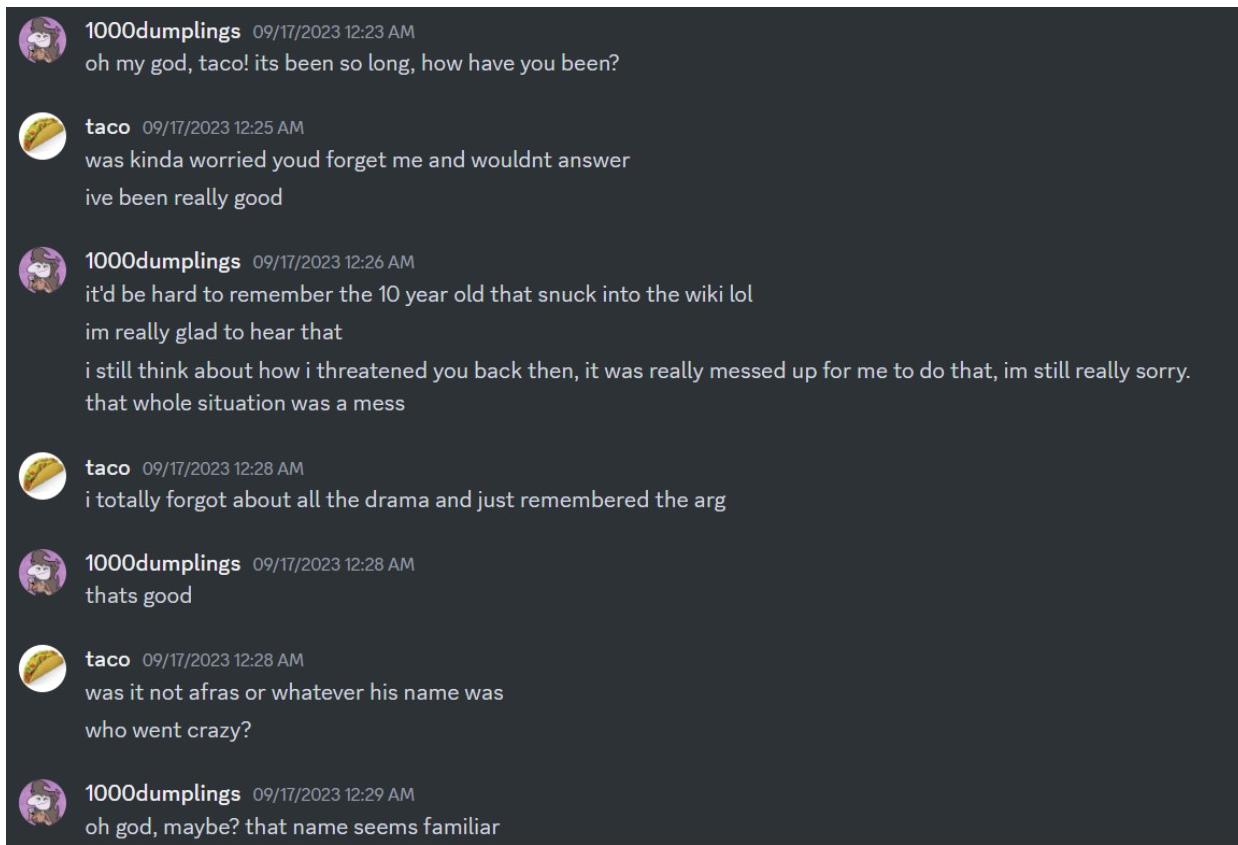

Blackmail

Multiple years ago, I was involved with a group of people attempting to create a Backrooms ARG, led by a Discord user named taco. taco brought an individual onto the project that had previously participated in a harassment campaign against me.

I threatened taco that I would stop working with him and tell others to not help with his project if he didn't remove this other individual from the group chat. I threatened this kid with blackmail.

This is perhaps the worst thing I have ever done in my entire life and I feel fucking horrible for doing it.

Thankfully, I apologized to them, and they weren't that impacted by what happened as far as I know. In the screenshot below, they randomly added me again after over 3 years of not talking with them.

I acted in a way that was incredibly irresponsible, not only by working with people much younger than me on a project (even considering I was a minor at the time), but by acting in a way that was so emotional and harmful.

taco, I'm truly sorry for what I did to you. You did not deserve that. I hope you're doing well with whatever you've got going on today.

Posting an image of my legs

When I was 15, I posted a suggestive picture of my legs in one of The Backrooms Wiki discord channels. This was an incredibly stupid and embarrassing thing for me to do, and it was an absolutely inappropriate thing to post on a server full of, and easily accessed by, minors. I am sorry for this behavior, and to anyone I made uncomfortable.

At around this time, I was dealing with the aftermath of a deeply abusive relationship I was in, in which I was put in a group chat with both adults and minors and pressured into sending NSFW pictures of myself- among other forms of abuse that I endured from this person.

In the moment, my skewed perception of sexuality made me not realize how inappropriate what I did was.

The image was quickly deleted and no such incident ever happened again. But nothing that I said changes that what I did was wrong, and I'm sorry.

However, the fact that people have called out this incident as “proof” that I am a groomer or pedophile is frankly disgusting as an actual victim. To take the visible symptoms of someone being abused and exploited, and twisting them to fit into a narrative that I want to harm children sickens me.

‘The Rubber’ Entity page, and telling someone to kill themselves

A long time ago, again, when I was a minor, I made an entity called “The Rubber”, which contained inappropriate themes and a NSFW image. The page was specifically a reference to the BDSM test results website, and was about a man in a Rubber suit. I made this page as a joke and even when I initially posted it, it had a NSFW content warning.

After this article was inevitably removed, I kept an archive of the page linked on my author page, because at the time I still thought it was funny, not too inappropriate, and that people ought to still be able to read it if they wanted to. It even had a NSFW warning on the page, which at the time, I thought was enough. Eventually, I was told to remove this link, and I apologized for keeping it up then.

Later on, I got into a huge argument with a former Administrator of The Backrooms Wiki named Ross over this article, in which he falsely accused me of being a pedophile and groomer.

This was the first time I had to deal with slander online to this degree, and I got very emotional in response, saying "I'd post the article again if I could just to piss you off".

Ross took this and used it as evidence to continue to push his false narrative that I am some kind of pedophile or groomer.

In my anger, I, in complete seriousness, told Ross to kill himself. This is not something you should ever say to someone and regardless of the circumstances I should not have said this and I am sorry.

Posting a NSFW story in Liminal Archives

In the brief time that I was a part of Liminal Archives, there was a large discussion between myself and several other members about the quality of my work. I posted the link to a story I was writing that I said I was proud of the quality of. This story was unfinished, and at the time, there was a section in the story that made reference to pornography.

wattpad  Browse ▾ Community ▾ Search

The Plummeling
by 1000dumplings

by 1000dumplings

I yank off the little pink piece of plastic from my hair in anger. Still quietly yelp in pain as it rips out a strand of hair or two. In my frustration, I just throw it at the monitor. It makes a pathetic thud sound as it bounces off the screen and onto my keyboard. Something starts playing.

"Wanna fuck? Meet gay singles in your area and hot twinks with Greet and Fuck--"

"Jesus Christ, no!", I yelled out, frantically muting my computer. I gasped in laughter at how much that caught me off guard.

Apparently... I had left a questionable website open instead of having a studying website open. The obnoxiously loud fake advertisement was placed over a random video I had watched the night before. I felt my heart flutter for a second as I looked at the screen. The video was of a skinny feminine boy tied up and hanging from the ceiling, with pretty black eyeliner running down his face.

It was an enthralling little video that, embarrassingly, I thought was really beautiful and had a lot of aesthetic value. Though, it wasn't helped much by the fact that the title was something dumb like "HOT TWINK FEMBOY SLUT GETS TIED UP AND FUCKED RAW". I actually think it deserves way more respect than that! BDSM is an art form!

A mod realized that this story was inappropriate for Liminal Archives, so the link was deleted. Later on in the conversation, I posted it again by mistake, forgetting about the one part that was inappropriate, and it was deleted a second time. I apologized for this at the time. This incident led me to being banned from Liminal Archives.

It was extremely reckless and inappropriate of me to post a story that contained these explicit themes and content in a server where there were minors who could, and did, easily see them. I fully admit and take responsibility for doing this, and I'm sorry for any harm or discomfort I caused.

My “hot take” on incest

In the past, I wrongly held the belief that incest was morally neutral, and I would frequently attempt to debate people on the subject if it was brought up. I held this belief because I thought that the only reason it was seen as taboo was because it was gross, and that the argument that babies born of incestuous relationships could be born with birth defects was eugenicist.

I held this belief because I enjoyed being a contrarian and having a “debate bro” attitude when it came to certain subjects. It was incredibly stupid and gross for me to have this mindset, as 9 times out of 10, incest happens because of abuse and grooming, a fact that I did not consider.

I no longer hold this belief. You can actually see my mind changed in real time in this video where I asked a political YouTuber about the subject.

I was wrong for having this mindset, and I know that I made a lot of people extremely uncomfortable by talking about it. And to everyone that I grossed out from this, I’m sorry. I shouldn’t have held onto this weird and gross belief for as long as I did.

Edginess and bigotry

While I personally feel that this subject is far less important than everything else I touched on in this document, I ultimately did still end up hurting a lot of people with my edginess and overall toxic behavior- and I need to take accountability for that.

For basically my entire life I have been really edgy. I’ve said slurs, posted memes and made videos about edgy subjects- and my time in The Backrooms community was no exception to this. There are multiple incidents where I said slurs and generally acted in ways that were extremely toxic and spiteful to other people.

It is wrong for me to act in such a way, and I am truly sorry for any harm that I’ve done.

I am not a bigot. I am transgender, bisexual, Jewish, and plus-size- and though none of those things make it impossible for me to be bigoted- I say it because I know full well what it is like to be a victim of hatred. There is no excuse for me to have acted in this way, and I have been- and will continue to, try and be a better person.

Log 6969

I did not create Log 6969. Years ago, an author in The Backrooms Wiki created a NSFW fanfiction about The Game Master that he posted to TS. This was during a time when there was practically no moderation. He made Log 6969 explicitly as a joke and to mess with me, and it has remained a sort of inside joke/'cursed' meme in The Backrooms community. I have made jokes and references to it a few times throughout my YouTube videos.

Most people in general didn't care what it was, and when asked I always said basically the same thing: that it was an old inappropriate fanfiction and that you shouldn't seek it out. In hindsight I probably shouldn't have referenced it in my videos, but I don't think it caused any real harm, so I'm not going to beat myself up over it.

Other incidents and behaviors

With multiple people currently crafting a massive Google doc full of evidence to defame me and get me banned from The Backrooms Wiki, I don't currently know what kinds of allegations or behavior or incidents they will call out. So once I know what they will attempt to defame me for, I will address all of it here.

If something happened, I will address it. I have nothing to hide.

• • •

The ways in which I have acted have hurt a lot of people and I have rightfully suffered the consequences of that for years. I have tried my absolute hardest to be a better person since then, and I've broadly been accepted back into the community. I'm grateful to everyone who, despite everything I have done, has chosen to forgive me and allow me back into their lives. It means the world to me.

But still, the fact that so many people have tried to ruin my life with false accusations of grooming and pedophilia has destroyed me mentally. In 2022 allegations like these nearly drove me into committing suicide. I spent every single day on fight or flight mode, constantly updating a single Google doc and searching all over the internet for mentions of my name and people trying to slander me. I still suffer from the trauma of that time period.

Today I learned individuals I was formerly associated with were crafting a Google doc for months collecting information and evidence against me. Learning this shook me to my core and sent me into a panic attack that nearly killed me. I don't want this to happen again. I just want to move on, and it feels like people keep dragging me back down into hell to relive the torment I went through over and over again.

I am not a pedophile. I never groomed anyone.

These allegations, these incidents, the behavior I used to have- all of this is years old at this point. I have apologized over and over again, tried to make amends with everyone I hurt that I could get in contact with. I've accepted the apologies of those that tried to hurt me. And despite that, people who hate me never stop trying to harass me, and to make my life a living hell. I nearly took my own life over this, suffered from panic attacks, and have been forced to live with trauma that has haunted me for years- from months on end of being in fear that I would be swatted, that everyone I love and the community that I built up would leave me behind.

I can't pretend to be brave anymore. I'm scared and I'm hurt. I'm tired of this.

But in spite of everything, to the people that, both past and present, tried to destroy my life with these false pedophilia and grooming allegations:

I forgive you.

I don't hate you. I want you to stop and I want you to leave me alone, but I do not hate you. I understand what it's like to feel hatred for someone, I know what it's like to see behaviors in another person and prescribe onto it your own fears and traumas. I don't know why you hate me and I wish I could understand.

I know I did things that hurt people. I'm sorry for hurting you. I'm sorry I was a bad person. I'm so, so sorry.

If you truly believe that I'm some kind of monster, and nothing I can do or say can change that, so be it.

But I won't just sit down and take it. I will defend myself against any false accusation made against me. I will keep trying to be a better person and improving myself, and I will keep trying to be a good member of The Backrooms community. No matter what happens, I am going to keep writing, making content, and being an active member of this community, and I am going to keep loving The Backrooms.

I'm not going anywhere.

And to my friends, colleagues, fans, and everyone who stayed with me during my crisis, who comforted me and defended me when it felt like the entire world wanted me dead, I am forever grateful for your kindness.

Thanks for sticking around, and I'll see you all again very soon.

- Ray
1000dumplings